

The 12th Annual Temple University Japan Campus Applied Linguistics Colloquium Call for Papers

We are pleased to announce the 12th annual Temple University Applied Linguistics Colloquium. Please join us on Sunday, February 14th, 2010 from 9:00 am to 6:00 pm at Temple University Japan's Osaka Center for an exploration of current research into second language acquisition and pedagogy. The primary goal of this event is to provide a venue for both new and experienced researchers to present their work in a supportive atmosphere. The second goal of the event is for researchers to be able to discuss research-related issues with one another in order to learn more about conducting high-quality educational research.

COLLOQUIUM LOCATION AND TIME

The colloquium will take place at the Osaka Center of Temple University's Japan Campus. The campus is conveniently located a few minutes walk from major railway stations in central Osaka. Registration will begin and coffee, tea, and donuts will be available from 9:00 am, and presentations and panel discussions will begin at 10:00 am and continue throughout the day until 5:00 pm. The address and contact information are as follows:

Temple University, Japan Campus Osaka Center
Osaka Eki-mae Building #3, 21F
1-1-3-2100 Umeda, Kita-ku, Osaka 530-0001
Tel: 06-6343-0005
Fax: 06-6343-5511

For directions and a map to the site, visit the Temple University Japan Campus website: <http://www.tuj.ac.jp/about/access/osaka.html>
A fee of ¥1,500 will be collected at the door.

THEMES

Research in any area of foreign language teaching and learning (whether it be English or other languages) and second language acquisition is welcome. We hope to have presentations covering a broad range of topics and research approaches.

TYPES OF PRESENTATIONS

Four types of proposals will be considered:

1. Reports on completed qualitative, quantitative, or mixed-methods research. (20-minute presentation and a 5-minute question and answer period)
2. Reports on works in progress. Such studies might still be in the planning stages, and therefore open to modification, or in the analysis stage. (20-minute presentation and a 5-minute question and answer period)
3. "How to" presentations (e.g., How to conduct case study research, how to use a specific piece of software). (25 minutes or 55 minutes depending on the complexity of the presentation)
4. Panel discussions in which 3-4 persons present and discuss a particular issue in the field. (55 minutes)

PROPOSAL SUBMISSION

Submissions should include:

Information about the presenter(s)

- names and affiliations of all presenters
- full mailing address of the primary presenter
- phone and fax numbers of all presenters
- e-mail addresses of all presenters

Information about the presentation or panel discussion

- title of the presentation or panel discussion
- a 50-word summary of the presentation or panel discussion
- a 150-word abstract of the presentation or panel discussion

Please submit proposals by December 15, 2009 to <tesol@tuj.ac.jp>. In the topic line of your e-mail write "Colloquium proposal".

All submissions will be reviewed by a jury of Temple University Japan Campus faculty; presenters will be notified of the jury's decisions on or before January 10th, 2010.

The Applied Linguistics Colloquium is organized by the Graduate Education Program at Temple University's Japan Campus.