

Adapted personal dilemma dialog and advice-giving expressions

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

Step 1: With a partner, read the following dialog aloud twice, switching parts after the first time.

- Alan: How's your job-hunting going?
- Alison: Pretty good. I just got two offers. One from G&P Plastics and another from Mush Cosmetics. It's a really difficult choice.
- Alan: Wow, well done! Of course you are going to choose Mush right? G&P are a plastics company. Ugh!
- Alison: Well it's not that simple a decision. And anyway, what's wrong with plastic? YOU use it everyday, like everyone else.
- Alan: I only use recycled plastics, Alison. Also, don't you know that Mush Cosmetics have won awards for the environmentally friendly handmade soap? The CEO is a woman committed to reducing plastic waste. You would be making a big mistake to reject that offer.
- Alison: Do you really think so? In fact I am seriously thinking of taking the offer from G&P Plastics.
- Alan: Are you joking? Don't you know that they are famous for promoting "one use" plastic goods like straws and throwaway plastic coffee stirrers. They are a terrible company. If I were you, I would never consider G&P.
- Alison: Well all companies have to make money, Alan. It's a very difficult choice for me. You know I need a high-paying job and G&P pay at least 30% more salary.
- Alan: I can't believe you are throwing away a chance to work at a really good company like Mush. If you work for Mush, your job will be much more creative and you will feel good about yourself. I strongly suggest that you accept their offer before you lose the chance.
- Alison: I appreciate your advice, but I need to earn a high salary because I have a lot of student loans to pay. Your parents paid for your university fees. You can take a job with a company like Mush. I can't afford less salary just to work for a company that has a good image. And anyway, I might be someone who helps make G&P more responsible in the future.
- Alan: Whatever you do Alison, don't take a job with a company that doesn't care about the environment. Your friends, including me, will be so disappointed in you.
- Alison: I can't help that, Alan. This is my decision alone.

Step 2: Go over the following advice-giving language with your teacher. If you need, write down the meanings in Japanese. Rate them by levels of politeness: Rude - A bit too direct - Gentle - Very gentle.

Advice giving language	Rude	A bit too direct	Gentle	Very gentle
(I think/I really think) you need to/must/should consider...
How about...?
It is usually a good idea to...
My suggestion/advice is (to)...
Why don't you...?
Have you tried...?
I (would) (strongly) suggest/advice that...
If I was/were you, I'd...
In my experience, ... works really well.
It's generally best/a good idea to...
One thing you could/should/ do is...
Make sure you (don't)...
The sooner you... the better.
Whatever you do, ...
Your best/only option is to...

[illegible]