

Pair-writing an ethical dilemma dialog

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

Step 1: With your partner, choose one of the following ethical dilemmas:

1. Your aunt gave you a clothing item that you do not like, and she has noticed recently that you never wear it.
2. Your classmate does very little work when you are working in a group project for a group grade.
3. Your friend dresses in a way that you and others think detracts from her appearance and causes gossip.
4. Your grandmother gave your high school-age sister 5,000 yen as toshidama (lucky money). Your sister remembers that she gave you 10,000 yen when you were her age and is resentful.
5. Your overseas friend is visiting Kyoto and wants to visit several places on one day. However, you only have a few hours free to spend with her, and she doesn't realize how long it will take to visit all these places.

Step 2: Pair-write a 12 to 20 turn dialog about your chosen scenario. Student A should ask for advice, and Student B should give advice. Use as many polite advice-giving expressions as you can.

[illegible]

Step 3: After you finish writing your dialog, make _____ copies, enough for each other pair in our class.
